MEMORANDUM FOR: Executive Director-Comptroller

SUBJECT : U. S. v. International Business Machines Corporation (69 Civ. 200 S. D. N. Y.)

REFERENCE : Memo OGC 72-0490, dated 4 April 1972

1. Reference is made to cited correspondence.

2. Relating thereto, TSD does not possess an Electronic Data Processing System as defined in Schedule 2 of Reference. However, TSD is involved in the use of a Computer Terminal which is located in South Building which, in turn, is tied in with an already existing system of the Office of Computer Services. There was no TSD involvement in the selection of equipment relating to the Computer Terminal. This was handled by the Hardware Service Section of the Office of Computer Services [redacted] Related documentation is said to be available in this office.

3. Various TSD elements currently utilize Hewlett-Packard 9820A Calculators. Although these do not fall within the definition of an Electronic Data Processing System, they do represent items of an electronic data equipment nature. These algebraic programmable calculators are utilized for solving engineering equations and also can be used to interface test instrumentation and perform automatic testing. Related documentation is available within TSD.

4. Certain TSD units regularly have been recipients of the product derived from the use of Electronic Data Processing Systems available at Headquarters. These print-outs are provided on a monthly basis and are keyed to specific requirements. Related documentation is said to be available within TSD, as well as DDP/IP/ADB (Information Programs/Automatic Data Branch).
